NEWS FROM NEARBY DISTRICTS
 SENT IN BY RUSTLING CORRESPONDENTS

Sunnyside
 It is reported that Indians violate the game laws by killing game out of season but in our opinion there are some pretty light colored "Indians" laying themselves liable for the same offense.

The special school election Saturday was well attended and considerable business was transacted. A schoolhouse site was purchased and the deed sent off for record.

A number of our citizens are petitioning for a new school district north of Sunnyside toward Cavendish. We hope they may be successful.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kight gave a turkey dinner the 4th. Quite a number of relatives and friends were present and the day passed off quite pleasantly.

Wm. Powell made a flying trip to Tekan and thence to Leland Saturday, purchasing a mowing machine on the trip.

Mr. Gaiser's son, who was out on the wire some time ago, is improving and will soon be around again.

Messrs Ferguson, Darrah and See were elected as building committee Saturday.

Hay harvesting is well under way and the ham of the thrasher will soon be heard in this part.

Mr. Greene Norris has been seriously ill for some days.

W. H. Powell has contracted to run W. A. Black's engine this harvest.

Central Ridge
 There was a pleasant social gathering at M. J. Steele's home Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Rhoads, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McKay and Mr. and Mrs. O. Fairley being present.

There was a heavy hail and rain storm, accompanied by some wind, swept this section Tuesday night, but no damage has been reported.

There were religious services at the Steele schoolhouse Sunday held by Rev. Hoekis. A large congregation was present.

T. A. Holmes is getting ready to put up a new house.

Charley Jessup and family are visiting with H. S. Stanley's.

Mr. Karshaw has moved his store to Mrs. Ragan's place.

Mrs. Johnson, son and daughter, and Mr. Johns, of Nezperce, were in this vicinity Tuesday.

Wes Thomas has built a new cellar in which to store the product of his gardens and orchard.

A. J. Shortridge and wife have gone to Moscow on a visit.

Wes Thomas is having his house newly painted, Mr. Chapman doing the work.

E. S. Suedgrass left Monday for Fairfield, where he has a crop of grain to harvest.

Angel Ridge
 Present indications point to a phenomenal yield of fruit in this vicinity. The figs is thick upon the ground and the stalks are supporting an unusually large number of bowls, which are filling nicely.

Fred Kaylor arrived at the home of his brother, James Kaylor, Wednesday, having left work on the Great Northern one hour enough to spend the Fourth with old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lucas, formerly of this vicinity but now of Oregon, are rejoicing over the arrival of a pair of twins.

The following births on Angel ridge are recorded for the week: To Mr. and Mrs. Tole Thornton, a son; to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dykes, a son.

Miss Mand Stodghill came home from Abakus last week and remained until after the Fourth.

Samuel Allen and wife made the trip to Colfax, Wash, this week.

Most of our people celebrated the 4th at Peck.

Henry Springston is erecting a new barn.

Russell Ridge
 The road overseer for this district, Mr. Boehm, has about completed his work on the Orofino hill and is expected soon to walk the road workers of this section out to mend the highways. The Peck grade needs working badly. The Porter road is also to be built. There are upward of twenty men in this neighborhood eligible to road duty, being neither too old nor too young.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Miller probably do not consider work.

The funeral of the late J. N. Miller will be preached at the church near Dr. Reese's place Sunday. Mr. Miller's sad death calls for universal regret among his neighbors in this vicinity, as he was a highly respected citizen.

Gene Patchen and Charley Plank returned home Wednesday from a several days' business trip to Lewiston.

John Mustoe states that at least half of his beans were killed by the frost. Mr. Mustoe was more unfortunate in this respect than his neighbors.

The Richardson sawmill is running at fullblast and is turning out a good article of lumber. A planer will shortly be installed, the machinery being now in transit.

Mr. Wolf has gone to Nezperce to work at his trade, which is carpentering. R. H. Trutton, who has been working at the same trade there this summer, was home for the Fourth.

INTEREST IN WEATHER.
 A Peculiarity of the National Capital Which impressed a Woman Visitor.

"There are some peculiarities in Washington I never observed anywhere else," said a woman on her first stay in the national capital, according to the New York Sun. "Nearly everyone has a weather bulletin. These bulletins are furnished on application, and once your name is on the list the bulletins are sent daily. If you move and the house is vacated the bulletins are sent just the same. I never saw a place where everybody seems so much interested in the weather. The day I hired a cab and the driver thrust one of these bulletins in my lap. I have seen weather bulletins tied to the wire projections which are around all the trees in Washington. They hang over the box office windows of the theatres, in the doors of the stores and, of course, in the corridors of the hotels. You find them in every elevator and I have seen them in the street cars. In most cities public society is taken weather as a topic. In Washington it is kept before you wherever you go.

"I asked a number of my friends for an explanation, but I never heard a satisfactory one. One woman came nearer an explanation than the men I asked. She said: 'Washington is headquarters for weather. They make it here for the whole country.'"
